

currentcare is Rhode Island's health information exchange, a secure electronic network that uses state-of-the-art technology to ensure that authorized health care providers can access their patients' most up-to-date health information in an integrated view through a web-based portal.

Initially, currentcare will include laboratory information from Lifespan and East Side Clinical, as well as medication history information from retail pharmacies. Eventually, currentcare will include additional types of health information like radiology reports and discharge summaries.

There is no cost to providers or patients to participate in currentcare as the service is funded by state and federal grants as well as contributions from major health care providers and insurers.

currentcare has been made possible through a joint effort by the Rhode Island Quality Institute and the Rhode Island Department of Health, with financial support from the federal government and other members of the health care community. The Rhode Island Quality Institute (RIQI) is Rhode Island's Regional Health Information Organization (RHIO). For more information about the Rhode Island Quality Institute, visit the RIQI website at www.RIQI.org.

TALK WITH YOUR PATIENTS ABOUT CURRENTCARE

Many patients may ask what currentcare is and why they should sign up. Here are a few simple talking points:

- currentcare is a service that will allow me to see more of your health care record in one place.
- Signing up for currentcare will help me get your most up-to-date and comprehensive health information right away so I can treat you with the best possible care.
- Because you see a number of doctors, get different prescriptions, and get lab tests at different locations, it's hard to coordinate all aspects of your health care. currentcare will allow me to see all of this information in one place so I can give you the best possible care.
- If you are ever in a medical crisis, emergency room doctors will be able to access your health information right away through currentcare.
- Signing up for currentcare is free and completely voluntary. You decide if you want to participate, and if so, which of your doctors get to see your information.
