

Now any healthcare provider, not just federal agencies or large provider organizations, can exchange sensitive Patient Health Information (PHI) using the Nationwide Health Information Network (NwHIN). Thanks to the Direct Project, there is now a simple, secure and standards-based way to deliver that PHI where it's needed, when it's needed.

Inpriva provides Direct-compliant email services that help healthcare providers meet HIPAA and HITECH Meaningful Use requirements. Using webmail or popular email clients like Microsoft Outlook, Inpriva enables the routine exchange of PHI by using encryption, digital signatures, trust management and disclosure auditing to make sure only the intended recipient can view the PHI.

Inpriva is a longtime leader in the development of healthcare security, privacy and interoperability standards for the NwHIN. Earlier in 2011, Inpriva provided the HISP services for the Rhode Island Direct Project Pilot that resulted in the first ever Direct-compliant exchange of live patient data between healthcare providers.
